

The sheep and the shop.

This story includes words that end with /p/.

The sheep and the shop.

The sheep knew that it was going to be a very busy day at her shop.

The sheep had a quick shower, then she washed her hands with soap.

Then, the sheep put some lipstick on her lips and it was time to go to work. She put red lipstick on her top lip and pink lipstick on her bottom lip. “That looks good!” she thought to herself.

As soon as the sheep got to work, there were already lots of people queuing up outside her shop. She washed her hands with soap again and then opened the shop door.

The first person to arrive at the shop was a lady. “How can I help you?” asked the sheep. “I’d like to order a cup of tea please,” said the lady. “No problem, coming up!” said the sheep.

Next, a man came into the shop. “How can I help you?” asked the sheep. “Please can I have a grape?” he said. “Do you mean a bunch of grapes?” asked the sheep. “No, I would like just one grape please. I’m not very hungry so one grape will be more than enough!” said the man. “No problem,” said the sheep.

The next person to come into the shop was a boy. “How can I help you?” asked the sheep. “Please can I have a chip?” he said. “Do you mean a bag of chips?” asked the sheep. “No, I would like just one chip please. I’ve already had my dinner and I’m still a little bit hungry. One chip will be enough!” he said. “No problem,” said the sheep.

Next, a bunny rabbit came into the shop. “I wondered if you could help me? I need something that can help me to hop even higher,” said the bunny rabbit. “What about a trampoline?” said the sheep. “Wow, that will help me to hop really high!” said the bunny rabbit and off she hopped.

Soon it was time for the sheep to stop working, close the shop and to go home.

The sheep was so tired when she got home that she got straight into bed. "What a busy day at work. I hope it's quieter tomorrow," the sheep thought to herself. Then, she fell straight to sleep.

The end.