

The bride and the branch.

This story includes words starting with /br/.

The bride and the branch.

The bride was really looking forward to her wedding.

She had brushed her brown hair and it looked beautiful. She was ready for her big day.

She walked over the bridge and down the road. It was quite a long walk to her wedding.

On the way to her wedding, the bride was really hungry so she sat down and ate some bread. “Yummy!” said the bride.

It was a very sunny day and it was very bright. The bright sunlight was getting in her eyes so she finished her bread and started walking again.

As the bride was walking, she saw a cat. The cat was stuck up a tree. The cat was sitting on a branch. She climbed up the tree to help the cat but she got stuck on a branch. “Oh no! I’m going to be late for my wedding!” thought the bride.

A man walked past the tree. “Please can you help me?” asked the bride. “Sorry, I can’t climb up and get you because I’ve broken my leg!” said the man.

“I need to get down or I’ll be late for my wedding,” said the bride. “I’ll go and find help,” said the man with the broken leg.

The bride was getting really worried about missing her wedding and after trying to climb down the branch, she fell out of the tree and bruised her knee. “Ouch!” said the bride.

“Don’t worry, I don’t need help any more!” shouted the bride to the man with the broken leg.

The bride had to run the rest of the way to her wedding even though the bruise on her knee was really hurting. Soon, she bumped into her brother who was going to walk her down the aisle.

“I thought you weren’t coming!” said her brother. “I got stuck on a branch and bruised my knee!” said the bride.

“Never mind, you’re here now,” said her brother. The bride was so glad that she had finally got to her wedding! She had a wonderful day.

The end.