This story includes lots of words that start with /d/.

A day in the doctor's surgery.

The doctor woke up and knew that he was going to have a busy day in his surgery. There would be lots of people coming through his door.

First, Sally came in and said, “I’ve hurt my foot dancing.” “Oh dear Sally, you need to be more careful,” said the doctor.

Next on the doctor's list was a duck.
“I’ve hurt my wings because I’ve been flapping them so much!” said the duck.
“Oh dear Duck, you must be more careful!” said the doctor.

Next were two children. They said,
“We’ve been so busy digging that we’ve hurt our backs!” “Oh dear children, you must be more careful!” said the doctor.

The next person to see the doctor was a dinosaur. “I’ve eaten so much dinner and now I feel sick!” said the dinosaur. “Oh dear Dinosaur, you must be more careful!” said the doctor.

At the end of the day, the doctor sat down at his desk and wrote his notes. “What a busy day, I hope people are more careful in future!” he thought to himself.

The end.
