The wizard and the wedding.

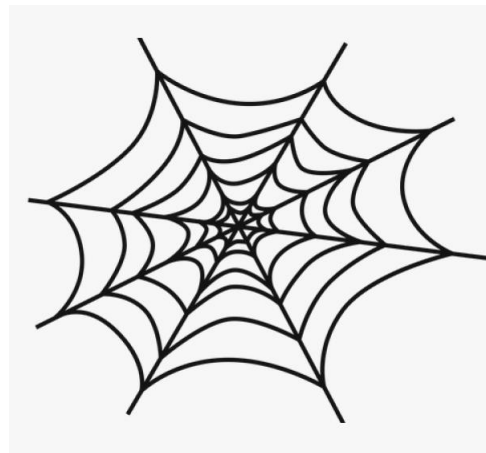

The wizard was very excited because he was going to his friend's wedding.

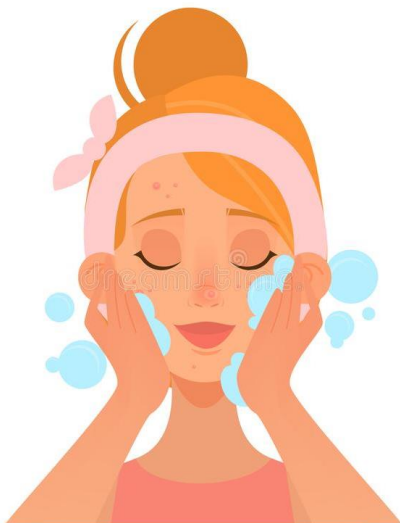

He looked out of the window and realised what a lovely sunny day it was. "What a lovely day for a wedding," thought the wizard.

The wizard got up and walked straight into a spider web. “Oh no, I need to wash that off. I can’t go to a wedding covered in web!” he thought.

The wizard had a wash with some water and got ready.

The wizard looked at his watch and realised the time. “Oh no, I’m running late!” he thought.

When the wizard got to the wedding, he was so late that the gates were shut. “I could climb the wall, but my outfit might get dirty,” he thought.

Instead, the wizard got his wand and did a magic spell. His spell made some wings and he was able to fly over the wall.

When the wizard had flown over the wall, he was finally able to see the wedding.

“What a lovely wedding!” he thought. It was a stressful morning but the wizard had a lovely time at the wedding and danced the night away.

The end.
